

Resistor stacked on top of cap.
 Assuming controller draws ~no current; this circuit has about a 1s time constant
 This is likely used to keep the controller alive during brief blips to handle tracking high/low state